

ATT. : Sifu Alfredo Del Brocco

Hi my name is Bertrand Dugas and I am a graphic artist illustrator and Wing chun practionner in Montreal.

I am working to create a flyer for Sifu Michael Orchard to promote his classes. Sifu Orchard was a student of Ma ping who learned it from Tam lai who was himself a student of Yip man.

As I was looking for information to document the history of Wing Chun I stumbled on your web page called the troth about the history of Wing chun that you wrote with Sifu Benny Meng.

Your argumentation is rigourous, franc well documented and above all intellectually honest. The legend of Wing Chun as traditionally told always sounded like a typical underdog Walt Disney scenario and had obvious contardictions..Like how could a female nun(Ng Mui) physiically learn Kung fu from other monks without getting harassed ??As Oscar Wilde once said "we can resist everything except temptation..." haha!

There is a french dicton that saids "every truth is not always good to be told" which could explain the neccessity of the current fairy tail or legend with the youg frail women slugging a harrassing bully I guess.

Thanks for opening my eyes ,I'l pass the word around. You should write something about that on Wikipedia.

Regards,
Bertrand Dugas,
www.bdugas.com